A COMPANY is now being organized in Richmond to be called the Richmond Industrial Company. It's object is to develop the manufacturing interests of Richmond. For this purpose those interested have purchased land opposite the power-house of the Virginia Elec-trical and Railway Development Company from Henry Lee Valentine. The building is to be modern in every particular. The idea of the originators is to rent floor space to tenants and to furnish with the floor space light, heat and power. One main line of shafting will run down each floor, and all the tenant will have to do will be to move into the building and attach his belt to the main line of shafting. In this way it will be possible for a man to start an industry by paying a reasonable rental and without having to go to the expense of buying land or building motors. The same general plan has been carried out in Springfield, Mass. and Worcester, Mass., and has been prominent factor in building up the industrial features of these cities. Some of the organizers recently made a trip through New England, visiting similar places. They found in Springfield the Elisha Margon Power Company, which started with one building within the last ten years and now covered four city blocks. The members of the Business Men's League of Alexandria have recently brought this idea to the at tention of the people of this city as the most feasible and likely plan by which to build up manufactories here. That this course is thoroughly practical is proven by the object lesson which can be seen at any time in the old Green factory, where several industries are located. There are a number of buildings in Alexandria which could be fitted up for the purposes described above, while there are many eligible sites on which structures similar to that proposed in Richmond could be located.

PROFESSOR METSCNIKOFF, of the Pasteur Institute, last week delivered a sensational lecture upon some recent operations in a Paris hospital, in which he asserted that the large intestine is not only entirely useless but positively barmful. He said that observation had demonstrated that no less than 45 spieces of dangerous microbes were there domiciled, and that to them most of our diseases were due. Nowall acknowledge that man is fearfully and wonderfully made, but there are few who will admit that there is any particular part of the human body that is useless or has not some function to perform and Professor Metscoikoff will have a difficult task in convincing people after all these years that it would be best to have their large intestine removed lest it furnish a domicile for dangerous microbes.

FOLLOWING THE lead of Senator Depew, Congresemen Grosvenor, the monthpiece of the administration, expresses himself in favor of a third term for President McKinley, saying it was time the fiction that there was unwritten law against a third term in Weshington's example was disproved. That there is a well-defined plan by the republican leaders who want it so to make Mr. McKipley a third termer or a continuous President there is little doubt, and these "suggestions" by prominent republicans are but "feelers' to try the pulse of the people on the subject. But with many of them the people must simply obey what the leaders say.

IT IS again said that the government is averse to another inquiry into the cause of the destruction of the battle ship Maine. The belief that the Maine was blown up from the "inside" is growing and the government wants the matter treated as a closed incident.

IT IS now stated that the husband of Mrs. Carrie Nation has decided to no longer live with her, but will make his home with his daughter by his first wife, From this it would be inferred that Mrs. Nation has discarded her hatchet and taken up the broomstick.

Then he will return to his state and resume what he calls his campaign of education against Tillmanism. The Senator admits that his chances would have been poor had he gone into the contest at the present time with Tillman, because, he says, Tillman completely dominates the existing machine, which gives him an insuperable advantage in the primaries. But this machine, be declares, will be discupted. The Senator was one of the callers at the White House today. A BALTIMORE TRAGEDY. William J. Stone, once a prominen cattle dealer of Warrenton, killed Mary Karstene, a Washington woman, in a questionable resort on Watson street in Baltimore on Saturday night, and then made a desperate attempt to end his own life. Stone is a native of Warrenon. He went to Baltimore some tim

The man was insanely jealous of the woman whom he apparently loved intensely Influential friends of Stone and hi family in Virginia used every effort, it is said, to break him of the infatuation, but without avail. The Karstene won an was very beautiful, and according to reports, kept close to Stone until all hi money was gone. Then he noticed coldness in her demeanor towards him which rendered him desperate. THE MISSING MAN AND WOMAN Mre, Clara Reidel and William Morey, two clerks in the Military Information Division of the War Department in Washington, have been absent without leave for a week, their dissppearance under suspicious circum-stances having been described in the Gızette's Washington correspondence last Friday. While there is as yet no direct evidence that they have eloped, their friends say the circumstances seen to indicate that such is the case. Mrs. Reidell leaves two little children un at Kensington a wife and five children Both Mrs. Reidel and Mr. Moreoy, so cording to the statements of people well acquainted with both, are unattractive, and the report of their elope ment is not any more mysterious than the fact of their attachment for each other. It is known that Mr. Morey is an ardent theosophist. Being of East Indian descent, he comes by his predilection for occultism naturally. During has initiated her into the mysteries of his belief, and it is supposed by many that they have broken all ties that bound them to the world and their children because they were convinced that they are afficities, and predestined to belong to each other. The conver-sation of both seemed to indicate that such was their attitude. Mrs. Reidel a week ago disposed of her farm, a fine property located near this city for $20, 000. A check was given Mrs. Riede for that amount. On that day neither Mrs. Riedel nor Morey put in an appearance at their deeks at the War department. Monday morning Mrs. Morey, who, with her husband and children, resided at Kensington, on the Baltimore and Obio road, received the following letter from her husband, who had not been home for two days "My Dear Wife: I am going to leav you f. rever, I will see that you get $100 a month for life, enough for you and the children. My reputation here is ruined. You can do what you please about the woman in the case."

It is thought that the missing comple have taken a steamer for Europe as Mrs. Reidel frequently told her as Mrs. Reidel frequently told her friends that she was getting money through the sale of her property in order to cross the ocean. It is possible that Morey, who was born in Ceylon, and has relatives there, may be going back to his native country.

Mrs. Riedel comes of a good family in Newmarket, Ohio. She is a daughter of the late Gibson Atherton, who was for many years Representative in Con-gress for that district. While traveling in Europe about fifteen years ago she met a young native of Switzerland named Riedel, and they were married. When they returned to this country the mother of the bride purchased Daingerfield, the beautiful country place near Alexandris, for them. Four years ago Biedel, who was a consumptive, died and his widow was left with two children, a boy now aged twelve and a girl sged eight. She became tired of country life and a few months after her husband's death secured a position in the War depart-ment at $75 a month and went to Washington.

Morey is a resident of Michigan, and it is said that his father was a consult to Hayana for several years. His mother was a Spanish woman. Morey wore a heavy black mustache and goldrimmed spectacles and was always well dressed. People who knew him say they believed him to be a model husband.

Daingerfield, where the Riedels lived, was formerly known as Rose Hill. It is situated near Bush Hill, on the Washington Southern Railway, about three and a half miles from Alexandris. Mrs. Riedel, the elder, who came from Europe with her son, lived there with him and his wife in the spring of 1897, when the family came into the public gazs through an assault committed upon the elder Mrs. Riedel by a notorious negro, James L wis, Lewis was hanged at Fairfax Courthouse for the crime. A train of unfortunate circums ances seems to have followed the family of late. Mrs. Riedel's late husband had accumulated a large stock of curiosities which he had collected all over the world, which were destroyed by a fire shortly after he moved to Rose Hill.

HIS LIFE SAVED By Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"I am sure that Chamberiain's Colic. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at one time saved my life," says A. E. Lafalette, of Gregory Landing, Clarke county, Missouri. "I was in such bad shape that the doctors said I could not live. When I was at the lowest ebb, one of my neighbors brought in a bottle of Chamberisin's Colic, Cholera and Diar-rhoea Remedy and I took it and got instant relief. I soon got up and around. That was nine years ago and I am still in good health. Since then that medicine has always been in my house and always will be. It is the best on earth." For sale by Richard
